2022 SHRINE BOWL CANADA AMBASSADORS

Arthur Herrera-Charbonnier

Arthur is 12 years old and loves sports - hockey in particular. As a young boy, he dreamed of becoming a professional hockey player. However, Arthur knows that things are a little different for him as he was born prematurely at 30 weeks, weighing only 1.36 kilos. When he began to walk, Arthur walked on the tip of his toes. A year after consulting with a neurologist and undergoing a series of tests, they discovered that Arthur had a perinatal stroke that resulted in mild cerebral palsy on his right side. It was shortly after his diagnosis that he began his journey at Shriners Hospitals for Children – Canada and met Dr. Thierry Benaroch. Arthur underwent an Achilles tendon lengthening to make his right ankle more mobile. He does exercises every day at home or with his physiotherapists to strengthen his right leg. This has allowed him to walk, ride his bike and play baseball, which he has been doing since the age of 6. You can catch him on the baseball diamond pitching or playing first base.

Emma Ryan Corbett

Eight-year-old Emma was born with severe congenital scoliosis, a condition that causes a curve in the spine. The shape of Emma's spine puts pressure on her lungs, causing respiratory issues. Emma came to Shriners Hospitals for Children - Canada when she was three months old, and her parents met orthopedic surgeon Dr. Neil Saran. The deviation was one of the most severe cases he had ever seen and he recognized that surgery to correct her spine would be too risky. Instead, Emma uses a back brace and a specially padded chair to help her sit straight and alleviate the pain. She takes daily medication and uses a sleep apnea machine at night to help her with breathing. Emma is growing and making progress and her body is adapting. Despite the steady pain, she loves to dance, do gymnastics and to ride her bicycle. Emma is also a fantastic fundraiser for the hospital having raised more than $15,000 to date. Her way to celebrate small victories is to give back to other children like her.
